

Agribusiness Leader Takes Compliance Out Of Silos With GAN Integrity

PICTURE THIS...

You are the world's largest corn dry miller, holding the global number one spot in crush volume capacity. You operate 42 oil refineries and 51 oilseed processing plants worldwide, showcasing your dominance in the industry. You're committed to a global goal of continued sustainable growth.

BUT...

Operating across 45 countries with employees speaking 21 different languages has made the adoption of new compliance processes challenging. Disparate legacy systems have led to redundancies and hindered access to critical risk data in compliance processes, complicating the documentation of compliance activities.

SO...

You turn to GAN Integrity. We design a centralized risk management platform that makes it easy to roll out various processes, from policy attestation to disclosures and risk assessments. This platform gives your compliance team a single source of truth, making program performance management, reporting, and documentation intuitive, easy and hassle-free.

NOW

You've become more efficient and less risk-averse because you can proactively manage risk – in fact, you've improved your risk mitigation process by 200%. With better data visibility and easier reporting, keeping management and the board informed is a breeze. Transitioning from multiple platforms to GAN Integrity didn't add any extra costs but provided a lot more value, bringing all your compliance and third-party risk management programs together in one place. Now that's better.
