

Global Health Innovator Cures Compliance Issues With GAN Integrity

PICTURE THIS...

You're a global pioneer in immunotherapy and mRNA research. Not only did you help make the first COVID-19 vaccine possible in record time, but you're also working on vaccines for malaria, cancer, and other serious diseases. You've protected the health of billions of people worldwide — and you look forward to helping more in the years to come.

BUT...

Reporting to regulators is a never-ending challenge. To be compliant, you must record every dollar involved in the company's interactions with healthcare professionals. Your current solution is for employees to manually submit — via form or email — the details of their dealings to your compliance team. The process is inefficient and tedious for everyone involved. Plus, with your data so decentralized, you worry about hidden risk.

SO...

You turn to GAN Integrity. Together, we create an automated system that simplifies every step of the reporting process, from data collection to approvals. And, not only is your team freed up from all the manual work, but you also get a real-time view of every transaction, so you're never left out of the loop.

INDUSTRY

Biotechnology/Life Sciences

PRODUCTS/SOLUTIONS

Conflicts of Interest, Gifts & Entertainment, Risk Management, Policy Management, Third-Party Risk Management, Investigations

NOW

You're ready to handle any regulatory request. Whether it's an analysis of all your current contracts or the details of a $30 purchase from three years ago, you can deliver it easily. Since you're no longer burdened by the busy work of compliance, you can focus on doing more good work for patients across the globe — because all that good work of yours deserves better.