

Tackling Compliance - How Leading NFL Team Scored With GAN Integrity

PICTURE THIS...

As a successful NFL team, you are setting the standard for compliance in American football. Your commitment to excellence extends beyond the field, ensuring that all aspects of your operations adhere to the highest standards.

BUT...

Managing hundreds of partners in an industry that has gained attention for improperly managed business relationships is a significant challenge. You must manage third-party risks and ensure the organization stays aware of the ever-evolving compliance landscape.

SO...

You work with GAN Integrity who design and implement a comprehensive solution for you. This includes third-party due diligence, an enterprise risk management solution to identify potential risks and evaluate and improve controls, as well as a repository for approving, housing, and distributing policies and training to employees.

NOW

You have dramatically reduced the time needed to execute compliance tasks. Various compliance functions now inform each other, guiding the improvement of policies, procedures, and controls in real time. This integration has strengthened your overall risk management program, ensuring you remain a leader in compliance as well as in football. Now that's better.
